Game Notes

Trinity's football team earned a 40-19 win at Rhodes College last weekend, opening up SCAC play with an impressive road victory.

First-year kicker Garrett Biel continued his hot start to the season with a school-record four field goals in the game, including a 47-yard boot that was the fourth-longest in school history. Biel's eight field goals in the first three games lead all kickers in Division III. At his current pace, Biel could definitely make a run at Trinity's single season record for field goals, which was set by Peter Licalzi in 2007. Licalzi had 15 field goals that year, and only four players in school history have kicked 10 or more in one season.

Fellow first-year Kyle Trella has also been impressive, though his efforts have come as the team's punter. Trella is averaging 43.6 yards/punt this season, which is good for third place nationally. He nailed a season-high 61-yard punt against Rhodes on Saturday.

Running back Chris Baer cracked the top 10 in career rushing, moving past Trinity Athletics Hall of Famer Obert Logan (1960-64) with his first 100-yard effort of the season. Baer's 123 yards rushing on just 16 carries gave him his second straight 100-yard game against Rhodes. He is just 207 yards from moving into ninth place all-time, passing Jimmy Whitney (1985-88).

Also achieving a significant career milestone was wide receiver Riley Curry. Curry moved past Hall of Famer Bill Hodge (1969-72) for fifth place in receiving yards, needing 143 to move ahead of Canaan Factor (1996-99). Ahead of Factor would be Bo Edwards (1996-99), Jerheme Urban (1999-02), and record-holder Jason Hunt (1999-02).

Curry is also fourth in career receptions, but can move up that list much more quickly. He needs just eight receptions to pass Edwards for third, and only 10 more to move past Urban for second place. Hunt is more than 50 catches beyond that, and is the only Tiger receiver with 200 or more receptions in a career.

Baer's total offensive yards have also put him in the top 25 in school history in that career category. He is 50 yards from passing Leonel Garza (1967-68) on the list, and 225 from becoming the 22nd player to reach 1,900 yards in a career.

Curry and Baer are both also in the top 20 in career all-purpose yards at Trinity, and while Baer is nearing 2,200 yards overall, Curry is approaching 2,400 and could potentially wind up in the top 10 by the end of the season.

Caleb Urban has continued to impress as a kick returner, currently leading the team with 127 yards overall. His 812 career kick return yards are good for fourth on the all-time list, though he needs more than twice that many to move into third place.

Saturday marks the first time that the Tiger football team has been back at the site of 2007's "Mississippi Miracle" play that drew national attention, and won the Pontiac Game Changing Performance of the Year award. The play also earned an ESPY nomination the following summer.

Trinity and Millsaps have met 32 times previously, with Millsaps leading the series with a 17-15 overall record. From 1993-2005, Trinity won 11 times in 13 meetings, but Millsaps has won two of the past three games against the Tigers, including a 56-27 win last year in San Antonio. That loss snapped a 37-game home winning streak in SCAC play for Trinity, and also marked the most points allowed by the team in the SCAC era. The Tigers had also won 64 consecutive home games against Division III teams prior to that game.
