Trinity edged Sewanee 53-52 in overtime of the opening round of the SCAC Championships Tournament yesterday, scoring the game-winning layup at the buzzer.

B.J. Moon scored the game-winner to keep the SCAC West Division's top seed alive at the tournament. Jonathan Lewis hit a three-pointer with seven seconds left to cut the Sewanee lead to one, setting up Moon's game-winner.

Luke Caldarera led Trinity with 12 points and eight rebounds, and also collected four steals. His four steals are a school record for a single game at the SCAC Tournament.

With his 10 points on Friday, Moon stands just two points from reaching 900 for his career, and would be the 26th player to break the barrier. He is also three steals from reaching 100 in a career, which would make him one of eight Trinity players to reach the century mark.

Since the SCAC Tournament began again in 2003, Trinity has won three conference championships in six years. The Tigers hold a record of 12-3 coming into the tournament, and have had nine All-Tournament team selections.

Trinity and Southwestern played twice this season, with Trinity winning both games by a total of three points. In Georgetown, Texas, Trinity edged Southwestern 53-52, then took a 75-73 win in San Antonio.

In this series, 19 of the last 23 games have been decided by less than 10 points. Of those 19 games, 15 have been decided by five or fewer points.

In tournament play, the two teams have met just twice, with Trinity winning both games. In 2003, Trinity won 70-59 on its way to the SCAC Championship. In 2004, in a more typical game in the series, Trinity pulled out a 59-55 win over Southwestern, and eventually went on to win another conference title.
